

PIPING & SPOOLS

- Metal pipes are designed for flawless connections using techniques like welding or flanges, ensuring leak-proof performance in your fluid handling system
- Spools, which are pre-fabricated sections of pipe with fittings and flanges already welded on, offer increased efficiency and reduced installation time onsite
- The robust construction of metal piping and spools guarantees long-lasting performance with minimal maintenance needs
- Available in corrosion-resistant materials

